The considerations are here precisely the reverse of what they were in the preceding case. We must, in the same manner, resort to the Table (pages 23d and 25th) corresponding with a double rate of interest, or that of 4 per cent per annum; and there look for the series of results relative to half-yearly instalments, in the column entitled Annuity for Cumulation. If the period assigned for the redemption should be 21 years, we find 00765553 the required proportion referable to 21 half-yearly instalments, or to a period of 10 years; and if the assignment should be 72 years, we also find the proportion 00119896 relative to a period of 36 years, by half yearly instalments. But as those proportions refer alike, not to unity, but to the quantity 2 as the future capital (because of the case converse from...
