The pastor of a church of nearly 2000 members reports that he uses the questions each month at the monthly concert. We are much encouraged by kind references to The Church At Home And Abroad in our exchanges. These are far more numerous of late than formerly, and they come from other denominations and other lands as well as from our own, and from secular as well as from religious publications. The suggestions and aids for the study of missions and of current events to which we have recently given prominence have met with gratifying commendation, not only words, but by practical use of them pleasantly reported to us. It was especially gratifying to find Current Events and the Kingdom of our January number fully copied, with courteous acknowledgement, in The Missionary Herald...
